SCHOOL

Dear Families,

November is the month of sharing gratitude. People share countdowns on Facebook, families declare them at the table (and hope no one brings up politics), children count their blessings on turkey feathers... We want to take a moment to extend our gratitude to you, the parents and caregivers of our students. We are fortunate to work in a community where education is valued and celebrated, where parents and caregivers work together with our teachers in order to make the school experience the best it can be for our students. We should never underestimate the impact we have on the lives of children through our words and actions.

Often sentences are started with 'We have to...' "We have to make dinner." "We have to get the kids to soccer." "We have to go to work." During this season of thanks, may we be mindful of our blessings and all of the great things we get to do. We get to make dinner and enjoy it with friends and family. We get to go to soccer and see our children play. As educators, we get to go to school and share our days with our wonderful students and equally amazing colleagues. We are truly blessed to work with such caring, dedicated teachers and staff who care deeply about the social/emotional well-being and academic success of each child.

We want you to know that we are grateful for your support and partnership not just in November but throughout the year. Warmest wishes for a wonderful Thanksgiving!

Kind Regards,
Mr. Argeese & Mrs. Bruce
